a WILD week IN REVIEW

It's been another busy week here in Washington, from meeting with members of our community to taking important bipartisan votes to support families and businesses in the Greater Lehigh Valley – more on all of this later.

I also want to highlight an important anniversary that occurred this week – 84 years since the first Social Security check was issued in 1940 to Ida May Fuller. When Ida received this check, it marked the beginning of a long, sacred agreement between the government and its citizens – that after a lifetime of hard work, everyone has the right to retire with dignity. Just like Ida, you've worked hard for your Social Security benefits and it's a priority of mine to ensure that you receive what you've earned.

I was also thrilled to receive a perfect score from the Humane Society on their 2023 Legislative Scorecard. Many of you know I'm a huge animal lover – maybe you've even met my pup, Zoey. So, this perfect score is a big deal to me, and I'm committed to keeping up the fight to guarantee all our furry friends are treated with the kindness they deserve.

Rep. Susan Wild Helps Pass Bipartisan Bill that Delivers for PA-07 Families and Businesses

On Wednesday, I was proud to join my Republican and Democratic colleagues to vote for a bill that will have significant impacts on our community. This legislation will expand the child tax credit for PA-07 families, increase the supply of low-income housing, invest in research and development, and assist those affected by natural disasters.

Believe me, I know this bill is not perfect. But it is better than doing nothing. This bill will help 33,000 children in the Greater Lehigh Valley, allowing them to access food, diapers, and school supplies. It will support our small businesses and those seeking affordable housing. And I will keep looking for ways to work with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to make life better for our community.
