a WILD week IN REVIEW

Rep. Susan Wild Introduces Bill to Continue Mental Health Support for Physicians

On March 18, 2022, I was so proud to watch President Biden sign my bill, the Dr. Lorna Breen Health Care Provider Protection Act, into law. Dr. Breen was a hero – one of countless physicians who put their lives on the line during the pandemic to keep us safe. Tragically, she was also one of the many health care providers who struggle with their mental health, and on April 26, 2020, she took her own life. To honor her legacy, this law has helped provided critical mental health support and resources to health care providers across the country.

Now, it is time to extend these resources and reaffirm our commitment to our health care heroes. That's why, this week, I introduced bipartisan legislation to reauthorize this law through 2029. The work to bring mental health out of the shadows is far from over, and I will continue doing everything I can to see this law extended.
