a WILD week IN REVIEW

Rep. Susan Wild and Democratic Women's Caucus Host Press Conference on IVF Access

Last week, I told you about my bill, the Access to Family Building Act, which would protect the right to in-vitro fertilization (IVF) nationwide. While this bill was introduced prior to the Alabama Court ruling that endangered IVF access, that court decision underscored the importance of passing this legislation immediately.

Over the past two weeks, I have been overwhelmed by the outpouring of support I have received from members of our community sharing their own fertility journeys, and from colleagues wanting to support this critical legislation. On Thursday, I held a press conference where I announced that we have added over 100 cosponsors to this bill, and have received the support of numerous health care organizations. I will keep fighting to ensure hopeful parents across America have access to the full range of assisted reproductive technologies they need to start or grow their families.

As Ukraine War Enters Third Year, Rep. Susan Wild Talks with Constituents, Continues Call for Ukraine Funding

Over the weekend, we marked the second anniversary of Russia's unprovoked invasion into Ukraine. On Sunday I joined members of the Ukrainian American community in Allentown to provide an update on Ukraine funding in Congress and listen to their concerns. As I told them, Ukraine needs our help now. With every passing moment, Ukrainian soldiers run out of bullets in their fight against Putin's aggression.

By failing to support Ukraine, we are abandoning our allies and emboldening our adversaries. It is long past time for Congress to act. We must immediately take up and pass funding for Ukraine, which is what I told CNN's Jessica Dean. Click here for more of our conversation.
