Waste Management Encourages Continued Recycling

By Adrienne Fors

PEN ARGYL, PA. — APRIL 1, 2020 — Facial tissues, toilet paper, hand sanitizer and disinfectant wipes have been flying off store shelves, while families are spending more hours at home to stay healthy and safe during the COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic.

Waste Management (NYSE: WM) is calling on everyone to Recycle Right during this time when recyclables are needed more than ever. Recycling is vitally important to our environment, and it has come to play a critical role in certain manufacturing supply chains. Without recyclable materials collected from homes and businesses, the mills that receive the plastics, metal and paper we collect would be unable to produce products such as tissue, toweling and boxes for groceries and medical supplies. Recycling is an essential service for manufacturing companies delivering these key products.

"Most recyclers don't think about the importance of placing their clean recyclable materials in their bins, but now it is more important than ever, as recyclable products are playing a critical role for manufacturing businesses," said Adrienne Fors, Waste Management's community relations manager. "Across the Lehigh Valley and Northeast Pennsylvania, people are generating more household garbage and recyclable materials than usual, and manufacturers are in need of more clean recyclable mate-
