National Volunteer Month: Support Your Fire Department!

By Rep. Ann Flood

April is National Volunteer Month, and the Office of the State Fire Commissioner is using the opportunity to highlight the vital role volunteer firefighters play in Pennsylvania.

With 90% of fire companies relying on volunteers, these dedicated individuals help keep our communities safe. Fire companies need more than just firefighters; they also need volunteers for fundraising, outreach, and other support roles. Consider stepping up to serve your community.

For more information on volunteering with your local fire department, contact your local fire company or visit the Pennsylvania Office of the State Fire Commissioner's website.

More than 9,000 laptops were distributed in the first round of the program late last year. It is funded through the Coronavirus Capital Projects Fund, established under the American Rescue Plan Act of 2021.
