

Mean Girls

I was eight years into my teaching career and was able to see many of the social issues students were facing reflected in Tina Fey's script. In 2020, the music department took a group of students to see the new Mean Girls Broadway musical adaptation of the movie. It was updated and included what life is like for students in high school during a time where social media holds so much power. I knew then I wanted to produce this show once it was available. I was certain there was more I could be doing to help students navigate through the uncertain world of high school. Through directing this show, I know there is more we ALL can do to create a comfortable and safe space for students.

We have chosen to perform the musical tonight without edits to the script. At times the language and subject matter is harsh and may offend you and make you uncomfortable. It should. Just imagine what it is like to be in high school now hearing those words thrown at you every day. We offer this production as a chance to reflect and think about how we can all do better.

Remember- we are all STARS!!!!
