Touring Crayola's New Solar Panel Array

By Rep. Ann Flood

I had a fantastic time visiting Crayola's facility to tour its impressive solar panel array, which holds 33,000 panels and sits just off a gravel road fittingly named Purple Mountains Majesty Way.

During the visit, I spoke about the importance of practical and balanced energy solutions for Pennsylvania. An "all of the above" approach is essential to meeting our state's growing energy needs. We are fortunate to have a diverse mix of resources, including natural gas for reliability and affordability, and renewables like solar that offer long-term sustainability and added flexibility.

Joined by Rep. Robert Freeman and the PennEnvironment team, we discussed how alternative energy is driving meaningful progress in the Lehigh Valley. A special thank you to Crayola for hosting us and for continuing to lead with purpose and forward-thinking energy investments.

Honoring Lookout Fire Company's Firefighter of the Year

By Rep. Ann Flood

PEN ARGYL - I had the honor of attending the Lookout Fire Company No. 1's annual banquet this past Saturday at Stroudsmoor's Lawnhaven venue. It was a wonderful evening celebrating the incredible work and dedication of our local firefighters.

I was proud to present a House citation to Richard Tower, who was named the 2024 James G. Dietrich Firefighter of the Year. Congratulations, Richard, and thank you for your service to our community! Thank you to everyone at Lookout Fire Company No. 1 for the warm welcome and for all you do to keep Pen Argyl safe.
