a WILD week IN REVIEW

This month, we will celebrate Jewish American Heritage Month, Mental Health Awareness Month, and Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander Month, along with Mother's Day, Cinco de Mayo, and Memorial Day. To all celebrating in our community, I hope your month is full of joy and love.

This week, I spoke on the U.S. House of Representatives' floor in memory of Deacon Anthony Koury, longtime deacon and volunteer at Our Lady of Lebanon Maronite Catholic Church in Easton, who passed away earlier in April. Deacon Koury lived a life of total service – to his family, to his church, and to our community. I am so grateful for his work as a champion of our Lebanese community, and it was an honor to honor him on the floor this week. May he rest in peace.

As we wrap up National Small Business week, I'm thrilled to highlight Dee Spencer, CEO of D Gillette Industrial Services in Easton, who was named the Small Business Administration's Pennsylvania Small Business Person of the Year! Congratulations, Dee!

On House Floor, Rep. Wild Highlights Extremist Threats to IVF Access

This week, I took to the House floor to discuss threats to IVF and other assisted reproductive technologies being put forward by extremists who want to control women's bodies. Many people aren't aware that there is existing legislation in Congress that, if passed, would jeopardize IVF access across the country, even in a state like Pennsylvania that has protections for reproductive rights. As the proud House lead of the Access to Family Building Act, which would defend the right to IVF and other assisted reproductive technologies, I am disgusted that politicians think they should have a say in individuals' personal medical decisions.

As your representative in Congress, I'm fighting to defend your right to decide how to start or grow your family.

Rep. Wild Launches Bi-paw-tisan Dog Lovers Caucus

Yesterday, I joined my colleagues from both sides of the aisle to form the Congressional Dog Lovers Caucus. If you know me, you know that I'm a dog lover to my core – you may have even met my pup Zoey out and about in our community.

Few things unite Americans as much as our love for our pets. In a time of partisanship and polarization, I'm glad this Caucus will put aside politics and work on behalf our furry friends.

If you and your pet want to be an honorary member of our Caucus, share a picture of them in the comments here!
