Historic Downtown Bethlehem, PA

The Downtown Bethlehem Association (DBA) has officially announced updates for their annual Vegan festival, "Bethlehem VegFest". From August 31st through September 5th, an entire week of "festing" will be offered through the Heart of Bethlehem's Bethlehem VegFest Facebook Event Page, managed by the Downtown Bethlehem Association.

"Going virtual will allow our faithful vendors and guests the opportunity to stay connected while we stay apart," says Tammy Wendling, manager of the Downtown Bethlehem Association. "Until we can safely gather to celebrate the Vegan culture, practices, and sustainability, this is a great way for us to commemorate the festival for 2020."

Vendors who wish to participate will be able to promote their products to the Vegan Community through social media and other marketing channels managed by the DBA. Webinars will also be scheduled throughout the week, including a live cooking demonstration from Jason Sizemore, owner/chef of Butterhead Kitchen, on Thursday September 3rd. Yoga and wellness classes with tutorial on building your own succulent garden will also be offered, and more. Festivities will conclude with a limited amount of tickets to a "Curious Vegan Trail" on September 5th, in Historic Downtown Bethlehem. This trail features various restaurants and shops offering 100% Vegan food, drinks and products.

Families can find a scavenger hunt at Cherry Valley refuge

Once a golf course, Cherry Valley National Wildlife Refuge near Stroudsburg, Pa., is now a haven for birds, butterflies, bees and other pollinators. For families who enjoy a fun challenge, there are worlds to discover, and Brodhead Watershed Association offers a scavenger hunt to encourage adventure.

Sharp-eyed kids will find at least five distinct habitats—a sunny meadows, stream, and brush pile are three of them. Another is the small wetlands where native cattails grow, home to red-winged blackbirds, wetland plants, frogs, salamanders and turtles. Stretches of forest habitat provide a shady retreat along the creek and also line the upland boundaries of the old golf course, where you might see the opening of a groundhog burrow, coyote scat or white-tailed deer.

Wood turtles, bog turtles, rabbits, foxes, bears and bobcats thrive as their habitats return. Fish, aquatic plants, water striders and other bugs are coming back, too. The water of Cherry Creek is fertilizer-free and healthy again.

"Nature does most of the work," says Jared Green, refuge manager of CVNWR for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "We humans help by cutting out the fertilizers and insecticides that hurt the creek. Then we just get out of the way."

The Belvidere Lions Club has taken on another community project. Our town pool has been serving Belvidere and the surrounding communities each summer since 1967. The pool operation is managed by the Pool Commission, a group of caring town volunteers working with limited funds, working hard keeping the pool going and available for our families. The pool building is in dire need of upgrades and repairs.

We have decided to take on this project to help. We replaced an old worn-out awning over the patio area with a permanent 36 ft x 24 ft pavilion. It was ready for use when the pool opened in late June. Contact Mike at the Lions Club at 908-451-6778 if you would like to donate or for information to before a member.
