

Slate Belt History From The Archives of Donald Jones

Exclusively in the Blue Valley Times

A Rare Photo Of Bangor And The 140 ft Foot Smoke Stack. It Was In The Area Of The Bangor High Rise Apartments Building, And Was The Property If The Bangor Electric Company In The Early 1900s.

The Electric Co. Was Sold To Met Ed. In 1912. Years Later MED ED Moved But The Stack Wasn't Taken Down Until The Late 1950s. (Not Exciting But Still A Bit Of Bangor's Unique History.)

Mules Return to Hugh Moore

By Miranda Alvarez

EASTON – On Wednesday, August 26, the Delaware & Lehigh National Heritage Corridor and National Canal Museum will welcome its two favorite mules, Hank and George, back to Easton's Hugh Moore Park. Hank and George, the beloved Percheron mules and “engines” of the temporarily non-operational Josiah White II mule-drawn canal boat will arrive at approximately 1 p.m on August 26.

Photo and video opportunities with the team will be available. Hank and George, who have been with the National Canal Museum since 2006, pull the Josiah White II, one of the last mule-drawn canal boat experiences in the U.S. In a typical year, the mules would have returned in April to play an integral part in the D&L's annual Immersion Days educational program for local schools, which were unfortunately cancelled this year due to the pandemic. Instead, they have been spending the summer at a farm in Williams Township, where D&L staff have been visiting them regularly for grooming and training. “We are delighted to have our four-legged colleagues, Hank and George back with us in the park.

Our staff and visitors have certainly missed them while they've been on “furlough”. While there are still challenges to overcome before we can safely resume canal boat rides for the public, this is a big step forward”, said Daphne Mayer, Museum & Education Director for the D&L. The return of the mules will also kick-off new outdoor public programs at the museum, which is open Wednesday through Sunday, 11:30am-4:30pm. The crew of the Josiah White II will be
