Strengthening Agriculture Through Policy and Partnership

By State Rep. Ann Flood

I recently joined the Northampton-Monroe Farm Bureau for breakfast at Buzas' Greenhouse and Farm in Easton. We toured the greenhouses, learned about the farming and seeding processes, and saw the mums and poinsettias already growing for the holiday season.

After the tour, we received a federal and state legislative update, followed by a question-and-answer session. Our discussion covered the remaining priorities in the farm bill, including crop insurance, conservation programs, agricultural research and workforce solutions. We also talked about agriculture's role in promoting a healthier America and the importance of supporting policies that keep food affordable and safe while helping farmers thrive.

Thank you to Buzas' Greenhouse and Farm for welcoming us and showcasing the important work they do to keep agriculture strong in our community, and to the Farm Bureau for providing this opportunity to learn more about the challenges and opportunities facing our local farmers.

Honoring Eagle Scout Lukas Groller

By State Rep. Ann Flood

Last week, I had the honor of joining a representative from Rep. Zach Mako's office at Emmanuel's Lutheran Church in Bath to recognize Lukas Matthew Groller on earning the rank of Eagle Scout. We presented him with a joint House citation to mark this outstanding accomplishment.

For his Eagle Scout project, Lukas mapped the trail system at the Moore Township Recreation Center and installed signs to assist with trail usage. He also held several leadership positions during his time in Troop 33, including guide, quartermaster, assistant patrol leader and senior patrol leader.

Lukas' dedication, leadership and service to the community are commendable. Congratulations to Lukas and his proud parents, David and Karen, on this tremendous achievement.
