Your Voice, Your Community

The Slate Belt Angels have dedicated proceeds from the sale of the Episcopal Apartments to create an endowment, entrusted to United Way of the Greater Lehigh Valley, to support the well-being of older adults in the Slate Belt region.

This summer, United Way is launching a community outreach effort to gather meaningful input from residents on how these funds should be invested. The goal is to ensure the endowment reflects the real needs and priorities of older adults across the Slate Belt.

To the right, you'll find a schedule of upcoming dates, times and locations where you can share your voice and help shape this important investment in the future of your community.

rural communities. "This fund is a remarkable act of trust and partnership, and we are honored to steward it," said Marci Lesko, President and Chief Executive Officer of United Way of the Greater Lehigh Valley. Together with the Slate Belt Angels, we are building on a long legacy of service to create lasting, measurable change in the lives of older adults in the region." The Slate Belt Angels embodies the true spirit of community building. With this multi-milliondollar investment, the newly established fund ensures that the founders' vision of supporting safe, stable housing and services for older adults continues to thrive in perpetuity. The fund is designed to strengthen and expand rural impact in the Slate Belt, with a lasting focus on housing, health and education.

"This fund is more than a financial investment — it's a promise to the Slate Belt community that older adults will have access to the housing, healthcare and support they deserve for generations to come," stated Robin Zmoda, United Way of the Greater Lehigh Valley Board of Directors Member and Borough Manager and Treasurer for the Borough of Pen Argyl, Pa. Interest funds from the endowed gift will be invested in programs that support older adults living in the Pen Argyl and Bangor Area School District catchment area to ensure the original mission continues to guide the work ahead.

Short-term goals include funding local programs that serve older adults to carry on the Episcopal Apartments' legacy. Long-term, the fund will grow through leveraged dollars and new partnerships, serving as a catalyst for rural investment in the Slate Belt for generations. "We are looking forward to benefiting Seniors in the Slate Belt on a long-term basis with the assistance of United Way of the Greater Lehigh Valley," stated Dave Ceraul, Slate Belt Angels.

Community outreach events are scheduled to take place throughout summer and fall 2025 to raise awareness and gather local input on what is needed in the region to ensure that older adults are thriving. Residents can attend the next event in Weona Park in Pen Argyl on August 3 from 6-8 p.m. to help shape this important investment.
