Rep. Susan Wild Announces $193+ Million for Pa. to Help Households with Home Energy Costs

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Today, Congresswoman Susan Wild announced that Pennsylvania has been awarded $193,486,298 in funding for the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). This investment will help individuals and families with low incomes pay home heating costs this winter, as well as prevent energy shutoffs, weatherize homes to increase energy efficiency, and make minor energy-related home repairs.

“LIHEAP is a critical part of protecting the health and safety of families across Pennsylvania,” said Congresswoman Susan Wild. “I’m grateful for this important investment that will help get heating costs down and meet the home energy needs of our community.”

Pennsylvania was awarded a total of $193,486,298.

$193,080,868 from the regular LIHEAP block grant funding.

$3,405,430 in Bipartisan Infrastructure Law funding for Fiscal Year 2024.

This funding is administered through the Administration for Children and Families’ Office of Community Services at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

By helping reduce the costs of home heating, reconnecting energy services that have been disconnected, preventing energy shutoffs, and providing minor energy-related home repairs, LIHEAP helps make sure that families can meet their energy needs and stay safe in their homes—because maintaining safe indoor air temperatures is critical, particularly for households with older adults, children, and individuals with disabilities.
