

Business Women Networking Group Recognizes Area Leader with Award

By Andrea Brock

LEHIGH VALLEY, PA – BW NICE, Business Women Networking Involving Charity & Education, Lehigh Valley Chapter, recently recognized the chapter's past president and treasurer, Susan Worobec, as Chapter Member of the Year at the organization's annual Sip N Shop fundraising event. Funds raised from this event support the organization's charity partner, The Third Street Alliance for Women and Children. The evening included multiple vendors, giving participants the opportunity to network, as well as shop for the upcoming holiday season.

Worobec was honored as the Chapter's Member of the Year because she has inspired countless individuals with her leadership, energy, concern for others and commitment to business and community. She was presented with a glass plaque designed by chapter member and glass artist Michele D'Amico.

At the event she was also presented with Lehigh Valley Public Media's Good Helper award. This award, in the spirit of Fred Rogers, collaborates with Lehigh Valley organizations to celebrate and recognize the contributions of individuals, like Worobec, in the community.

"Susan has been an invaluable asset to BW NICE and the Lehigh Valley Chapter, exemplifying the core values of leadership, empowerment, and creating a supportive environment for women in business," says Diane Simovich, Founder and President, "Her dedication to our mission and years of service and contributions on the Executive Leadership Committee have made a positive impact in our community."

"My late mother always told me to 'give whenever you can, it will make you happy.' She didn't care if it was in the form of monetary donations, clothes, toys, or just time." said Worobec, Unity Bank Area Manager, Lehigh Valley and Phillipsburg Area, "As I got older and started my career I was lucky enough to find a company to work for that not only allowed me the flexibility to volunteer in many organizations over the years but encouraged me to do so. I get great satisfaction from volunteering; it makes me happy!"

Worobec has served on Lehigh Valley Chamber of Commerce boards for Forks, Phillipsburg and Bethlehem as well as on the Chamber's Forks Community Days Committee and Veterans Council. She is involved with the Fifth Youth Center, Phillipsburg, NJ and is a newly appointed board member of the Phillipsburg Union Station and was treasurer for the Easton Lions Club and the Easton Rotary Club.
