

A NEW, six-part, back-to-school series for parents and caregivers powered by Transform for Tomorrow and Remake Learning Days Across America

SO NOW WHAT?

HELPING PARENTS & CAREGIVERS NAVIGATE A SCHOOL YEAR LIKE NO OTHER

You and your family are in the middle of what is already an unprecedented start to the school year, not to mention all we experienced last spring. You're processing lessons already learned, adjusting to new ways of preparing your kids and often figuring it out for yourselves.

A lot of us are asking...So Now What?

The So Now What? virtual series brings the country's leading experts in education and childhood development, including PBS Kids, Common Sense Media, Learning Heroes and UPMC Children's Hospital, together with parents and caregivers to share and learn from one another. We will cover a range of topics specific to this moment in time, including social emotional wellness, mental health, learning resources, communication, tech safety and much more.

Together we will navigate the start to this new, uncharted school year, and make plans for what comes next, no matter what tomorrow brings.

Alternative Fuels Are On The Move

By LVPC

ALLENTOWN - Maybe you've never considered buying a Prius and perhaps you think a Tesla is out of your price range, but know this: the future of transportation is not by fossil fuels.

That's why General Motors is spending more than half its research and development investment on electric vehicles, why Tesla is the nation's sixth largest company with 15 times the value of Ford, and why Mack Trucks will begin production in Lower Macungie Township of the first fully electric refuse trucks in early 2021.

That future is playing out across Pennsylvania and the Lehigh Valley as state and local leaders prepare to build the infrastructure needed to handle the transition and offer incentives to get people to buy into it, state Department of Environmental Protection Energy Program Specialist Colton Brown said during two presentations before the LVPC's Freight Advisory and Environmental Planning committees.
