On April 9th, 2006, Mimi Dawn, had a seizure while driving alone, resulting in a horrendous collision with a row of large trees. She miraculously survived thanks to the amazing first responders, doctors, and the many pints of blood she received from Miller-Keystone Blood Center during two days of life-saving surgery. To ensure others in life-threatening situations have the blood they need to survive, my wife, Mimi Dawn, is celebrating her second chance and what we call her re-birthday, through coordinating blood drives.

TEACH (The Epilepsy And Community Help Group). TEACH is a local Eastern Pennsylvania nonprofit that hosts blood, food, and clothing drives and advocates for epilepsy, diabetes, cancer, and other debilitating diseases. TEACH was created in response to Mimi Dawn's personal experience with such diseases.

Local Seniors Get Ready For Easter

By Sherry Hock

BANGOR - Some of the Seniors at the Slate Belt Sr. Center located in the Blue Valley Farm Show building are busy getting ready for Easter. Each holiday, they get together before or after their meal and create center pieces for each table to add a festive flair to their lunch.

This month they painted aluminum cans, decorating them with ribbons, Easter eggs, spring flowers and even turned some into cute Easter Bunnies. There is always much laughter and mess whenever this group gets together to craft! And the centerpieces will look great as they share their Easter Meal, then participating in a special Bingo afterwards.

Other fun activities the seniors enjoy are exercising, game day, crochet class, they even have their own version of baseball. There are even special classes held to educate the Seniors on important issues such as health, pain management and healthy eating. This Sr. Center is will appreciated and loved.
