Musik Fest is Back!

By Michael Ortoski

BETHLEHEM - My wife and I attended this years Musik Fest on Monday and it was a long wait! Shut down by COVID-19 last year we couldn't wait to hear the live musik and taste the great food.

Only two changes we noticed and inquired about was that they no longer use tickets to pay for anything and the 'Voltzplats' was deleted from the event. That's were we usually go to start our day for food, drink and musik. When I asked one of the volunteers about it they explained "we couldn't take the risk on the weather, this area floods very quickly. So the committee voted to omit the area this year."

So we went to FestPlat and enjoyed bratwurst and sauerkraut, German potatoe salad and pierogies. For the first time ever there were two different mugs you could buy. The 2021 and last years 2020, we got both. The 2020 lights up with flashing colored lights and the lid and handel glows in the dark, I think it will be a collectors mug.

We love to walk thru and see all the crafters and find those unique items they are selling. The most unique one was something we have never seen before, it was handbags made out of album covers.
