

Liberty High School Girls Volleyball Makes Donation to Cancer Support Community

By Gina Martens

EASTON - The Liberty High School Girls Volleyball team announced that it has made a donation in the amount of $2,000 to Cancer Support Community of the Greater Lehigh Valley.

Liberty High School in Bethlehem, PA recently held a "Pink Out" Volleyball match against cross-town rival Bethlehem Catholic Golden Hawks. The event included a basket raffle with donations from various businesses throughout the Lehigh Valley. Sponsors included Pat's Pizza & Bistro in Bethlehem, and Paranee Properties. With proceeds from the event, the Liberty Hurricanes were able to donate generously to help those fighting Cancer.

Liberty HS Girls Volleyball Head Coach Connor Swigart said, "The young women on the Liberty volleyball team encompass the values of hard work and dedication on and off the court. This annual event is a team favorite, and a great opportunity for the girls to give back to our community."

Amanda Buss, Executive Director of Cancer Support Community of the Greater Lehigh Valley, was in attendance during the event. "We couldn't provide such valuable assistance to people affected by cancer without the kindness and generosity from caring community members. The support from events like Liberty High School's Pink Out makes an important difference for patients and their loved ones struggling to cope, striving for wellness, and needing resources and guidance", said Buss.
