

Slate Belt Chamber Of Commerce Announces Persons Of The Year

By Michael Ortoski
BANGOR - 2022 Business person of the year Kim Stocker
Owner of Blue Flame Events and Volunteer of the year Perry Morris

Kim received several nominations this year from vendors that have booths at Blue Flame Events and commend her friendly, professional manner, in addition to hard-working ethic and excellent customer service.

Events are well planned and Kim celebrates the success of vendors. The events contribute not only financially to the venues and vendors, but Kim holds community-based donation events to support local nonprofit organizations, such as Slate Belt Rising.

As a local resident and business owner Kim is a great example of a community-minded person.

Perry has been involved in Scouting for 30+ years and has served as a Cub/Scout Master, Committee Chairman, Eagle Board of Review, District Commissioner, District Chaplain, and Outdoor Leader Trainer. He taught various merit badges and assisted with Fall/Spring Camporees. He taught Native American Culture and Hiking Historic Trails. Perry has received various scouting awards including:
